

Microsoft Office lock-in and the deal with Novell

I can't urge you strongly enough to read the article entitled "How Vista Lets Microsoft has built into Vista the "trusted computing" ability to lock down Office document reader will be able to decrypt and read them. This is perhaps one of the things Microsoft has in its arsenal that could sabotage Linux and OpenOffice.org if Microsoft sues Novell's "interoperability" bonuses.