

Linux-based WiFi phone uses open-source connection

Belkin is shipping a WiFi phone based on Linux and Skype's proprietary VoIP Phone for Skype can use open or encrypted WiFi networks, and connects search zones operated by Boingo, Belkin says.