

Thin Puppy torture test -- Day 3

It's Day 3 of the Thin Puppy torture test, in which the Thin Puppy -- a Maxspec Puppy Linux 2.14 -- will run continuously to test the hardware and OS ... and memory died, I booted the machine with a CD drive, then disconnected said drive in RAM (I have a 256 MB USB flash drive connected in case I want to save an image), and it can't be rebooted without me cracking the case open and re-plugging a pre-programmed CF module in the back (the only "disk" this thin client is wired into the motherboard and a floppy power connector).
